Greenwood Care Residents Visit Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum

Greenwood Care residents returned to the Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum on January 5th. Everyone had a great time exploring the different exhibits in the museum. Two of the favorites were the popular Judy Istock Butterfly Haven and the rooftop Bird Walk. The sunny day made the outdoor bird walk even more special and offered beautiful views of the skyline. Residents also learned that January 5th was National Bird Day, a perfect way to celebrate!

Saturday Night Fever!

WOW... there was a Saturday Night dance fever thanks to DJ Joni! On January 21st, resident Joan Q. made her début as Greenwood Care's new Saturday Night Dance DJ. Joan has been playing music, singing, and DJ'ing for the past 14 years in many different settings, including weddings, clubs, karaoke bars, and birthday parties. Over the years she has acquired quite an extensive library of music... around 175 thousand songs! Her Virtual DJ software helps keep the music organized and flowing, not to mention it giving her the ability to play requests on the spot! Joan's love for music really shows and her gift for getting people up singing and dancing will, without a doubt, make Greenwood Care dances something special and exciting to look forward to.

THE DAY AT THE MUSEUM

By Gwen G.

We had a great time going to the Museum of Science and Industry in January. First we went through the submarine exhibit. Everyone thought it was cool seeing the U-505 German Submarine up close. It was also interesting learning about how Americans captured it in WWII. Then we went to "Science Storms". I actually walked through a man made tornado! This was the best part of the trip. There was a special exhibit on lightening, which involved bright lightening bolts shooting across part of the ceiling! It was cool learning about storms and a lot of fun visiting the museum. I can't wait to go back and see even more of the museum.
